Greece (Hellas) – these words are known throughout the world as a synonym of democracy, culture, art, philosophy, and Olympic Games. The value of the Greek civilization to the modern world is priceless. Greece is a unique state with a rich historical heritage, one of the few countries in the world having the more than 5000-years history.

Modern Greece is a state with 10 million people, located in the south of the Balkan Peninsula. Greece is an island nation and washed by three seas – the Aegean, the Ionian and the Mediterranean. Territory of Greece covers more than 2,000 islands.

The capital of Greece, Athens, is one of the oldest cities in the world. Today, Greece is EU Member State and is considered the most developed country of all countries of the Balkan Peninsula.

When studying in Greece, you'll have the unique opportunity to get in touch with a great history and see locations and venues, described in school textbooks: an architectural wonder the Acropolis, Knossos Palace and other monuments of the civilization. In Greece, every piece of land is full of history!

And of course, you can relax here: soak up a few rays on the beautiful sandy beaches (Greek coastline is stretched for thousands of kilometers and decorated with rare natural beauty), plunge into the clear sea, enjoy incredibly delicious of the Greek cuisine...

Hospitality, the gentle sun, clear sea and stunning Mediterranean flavors are waiting for you in Greece!

Free higher education in Athens

When choosing a city in Greece for studying, the most students prefer the capital city of Greek - Athens. Here, a large part of the public and private educational institutions is located. They choose to study in Athens because of a well-developed infrastructure, a wide variety of leisure options, as well as great opportunities for job search. The largest university of Athens is the University of Athens, founded in 1837. It was repeatedly ranked among the best universities of the world.

At present, the University of Athens includes the following departments:

- Theology
- Law
- Economic
- Political Science
- Medical
- Philosophy
- Natural Sciences

If you are determined to get free higher education in Athens, you should pay particular attention to the grade point average, as the more prestigious a university and a department is, the more applicants will compete for enrollment.

The crisis, which is a point of talk in Europe and Ukraine, does not affect the education in Greece at all. To the contrary ... University facilities are renewed in Greece, the latest training equipment is installed, new dormitories are built. Despite the crisis, free meals 3 times a day are offered not only for students of the major departments, but also for students of the language courses. Until this year, meals were not available at language courses. And this is constantly covered by the news and TV shows.

We are pleased to offer the incredibly attractive program of study at public universities in Greece for prospective applicants.

We may definitely say that the proposed program of the European higher education as support by the Greek governmental program would in total cost much less than the similar state-subsidized education at the universities of the CIS countries.

Please consider the following obvious advantages of the above referred educational program:

Financial benefits:

- Absolutely free higher education;
- A possibility to get a free dorm room;
- Free meals twice a day upon enrollment and during the preliminary period of the Greek language study;
- Free medical insurance and care;
- Free subscription to libraries and gym membership, admission to historical and archaeological sites of the country;
- Free provision of educational literature (permanently).

Summing up all benefits of the offered program, one may conclude: AN AMBITIOUS AND DISCIPLINED STUDENT STUDYING IN GREECE IS ABLE TO SUPPORT HIS/HER EUROPEAN FUTURE!

Higher education in Greece

One would hardly find another state offering such favorable conditions for foreigners in its national universities. Perhaps for this reason, it is not easy to find Greek universities among numerous proposals for study abroad.

Studying at the Greek university shall mean:

- Getting the European education recognized anywhere in the world;
- Living and working in developed European states with excellent standards of life, powerful national economies combined into a single pan-European conglomerate and truly democratic, multinational and tolerant society.

Meanwhile, the Greek public education is an almost free opportunity to get sound knowledge, diploma of the European standard and the annual internship in Europe, which is provided in many Greek universities for students of the third and fourth years.

Why Greece?

- ✓ Foreign students study at public universities absolutely free of charge (including meals and accommodation).
- ✓ Admission to university is based on certificates rating, without entry examinations, and does not require the presence in Greece. Knowledge of the Greek language is not required for admission.
- ✓ We guarantee admission to one of Greek universities, chosen according to your preferences and suggestions. You can choose from more than 600 departments offering a variety of specialties, including medical and creative ones.
- ✓ Greek diplomas are recognized throughout the world.

Are you looking for a state for getting quality of higher education? Please pay attention to Greece! Foreign students study at public universities absolutely free of charge, including meals and accommodation. By the level of teaching and material support, the Greek universities are highly competitive with popular and well-known educational institutions in Europe. An important feature: free education in Greece is available for school graduates.

It should be noted that admission to the public Greek university differs for a Greek citizen and a foreigner. Greeks undergo a very serious competition and exams, public universities are available for most deserving students, who passed all competitions and exams with the highest grades.

Why Greece?

First is an easy access to education; any applicant, regardless of his/her economic and social status, shall have equal opportunities to go to the university and study for free! During study, no additional cost of education will be charged.

Second – preferential admission allows a foreign student to omit entrance exams, and be enrolled according to the average grade of a certificate only. The centralized filing system enables an applicant to select several universities, offering a wide range of departments for studying. Departments related to the state defense are excluded only.

Third – to enroll, the Greek language competency is not required. You'll learn it after admission to the department, as your first academic year will be devoted to the language courses only (and in my experience, one year is enough to understand and speak Greek). And you secured position in the faculty will be available after you pass your exam in Greek. After that, you'll start the main course.

Fourth – the full-time education only, with free attendance. A specific feature of the Greek higher education is that a student shall not pay for failed exams, so he/she is not afraid to be expelled from the university or stay for a second year. Democratic education system does not limit the number of subjects passed; so, in case of failure, a student shall resit many times and follow his/her syllabus.

And one more reason attracting foreigners is a high level of teaching, a diploma of the European standard and, of course, the student benefits provided at Greek universities, having all signs of the "developed socialism".

Indeed, no other EU state offers such benefits!

- The possibility of getting a dorm room or a grant for accommodation;
- Free meals three times a day;
- Free medical insurance and care;
- Provisioning with the educational literature;
- Preferential access to the public transport;
- Grants for performance from the university;
- Student exchange programs and internships in the European states during their studies;
- Free subscription to libraries, sports centers, historical and archaeological sites of the country;
- A work permit.
